"Is it weird if I kiss my guy after he gives me oral sex?"

Q I love when my fiancé goes down on me, but when he's done he wants to kiss me. I've been reluctant to give it a try. Is this something other couples do?

A Yes, some couples find it incredibly erotic; others consider the act somewhat taboo. You don't say why you're reluctant to give it a try. If it's a hygiene issue, you've got nothing to worry about, since it's your own body. If you're concerned about the taste, well, you won't know unless you try it.

Bottom line: It's all about personal preference. Regardless of who's doing what, you need to do what makes you feel comfortable. Perhaps that means not trying it at all and letting your fiancé know that the idea makes you feel uneasy. Or, you may decide to lip-lock in the heat of passion, discovering that it intensifies the intimate bond you two already share.
